Labor Chiefs Rap 40-Hour Suspension

AFL AND CIO LEADERS TALK TO COMMITTEE

Green Charges Sponsors of Bill to Lengthen Work Week Wage Own War.

DISAVOWS ALL STRIKES

Murray Joins Assertion That U. S. Workers Outproduce Every Other Nation.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—CIO President Philip Murray and AFL Chieftain William Green appeared before the house naval affairs committee today to condemn proposals to suspend the 40-hour week — Green bluntly charging that "the sponsors and supporters of this bill are waging an undeclared war against President Roosevelt and the workers of America."

Pleading for unity and charging 'deliberate falsification" of the issues, Murray urged the committee "to rebuke once and for all those people in public and private life who are seeking to disrupt our nation and attack labor while its heart and soul and mind and body are engaged in the war effort."

The bill which the labor leaders attacked not only would suspend the 40-hour week but abolish overtime pay and outlaw the closed shop.

Both labor leaders cited figures to show that "American workers are outproducing the workers of any other nation in the world" Green pledged that neither he nor the AFL 'has or will condone any strike by any of its members as long as this war lasts"

"I say to you publicly that I disavow any strikes of any kind by any AFL union for the duration," Green declared.

"I say to you that in the few unauthorized, wildcat, local strikes that have occurred since the war, union officials have immediately exerted all their efforts to get men back on the job and have succeeded marvelously."

Murray lashed out at high profits of employers, which the committee also is investigating in con-

'Our Fault If We Lose' —Churchill

Prime Minister Declares Reverses to Be Marked With Successes.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — Prime Minister Churchill declared today that the Allies "cannot lose this war except through our own fault or our own failure to use our combined, overwhelming strength and to use our multiplying opportunities that will present themselves to us."

Addressing the annual meeting of the central council of the National Union of Conservative and Unionist associations, his political party, the prime minister said

"I cannot offer any guarantee that we are at the end of our misfortunes.

"It would be foolish for us not to be prepared for further heavy blows, but just as last year I warned you that we could not have successes uncheckered by reverses, so now in 1942 we need not expect to have reverses unrelieved by successes"

After stressing the "very hard fighting' now going on in Burma and the Japanese threats to Australia and to India, Churchill declared.

"The battle of the Atlantic, upon which at all times our power to live and carry on the war effort depends, after markedly turning in our favor for five or six months has now for the time being—and only for the time being—worsened again.

"A year ago," Churchill related, "we were alone. Now three of the greatest nations in the world are sworn to us in close alliance and are fighting at our side in all their growing power.

"Whereas a year ago all we could do was to fight stubbornly and doggedly on as we had done when we were alone in former wars—and not without ultimate success—we have now at our side mighty allies"

The premier declared that Britain had preserved free speech, but added "there is a limit which I must have respected"

"I cannot allow propaganda to disturb the army or weaken the confidence of the country and the

UNION OFFERS TO ELIMINATE OVERTIME PAY

Proposal Goes to 4 Mansfield Plants Whose Workers Are Enrolled In UERMW.

BENEFITS GOVERNMENT

Plan Calls For Companies To Turn Extra Wages Over To Treasury Department.

Following the lead of its national executive board, Local 711 of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America today prepared to offer to four Mansfield industrial plants a plan for scrapping, for the duration of the war, overtime wages for work on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays and promised an attempt to increase production output by 15 per cent.

Richard Niebur, field representative of the group, announced that the local was making arrangements to start negotiations with the companies for the discontinuance of the overtime payments on the condition that the money be paid instead to the government.

Niebur said that the companies would be asked to surrender the overtime payments, asserting they had allowed for overtime rates in their bids when they applied for war contracts. He stated that according to the Walsh - Healey act the companies are required to pay the overtime rates on war production if employes work on Saturdays, Sundays or holidays.

Niebur said that Local 711 held contracts with the Mansfield plant of the Westinghouse Electrical and Manufacturing company, the Martin Steel company, the Humphryes Manufacturing company and Farm Tool, Inc.

The organizer stated that it would be impossible to estimate the amount of money which would be turned over to the government or the number of employes which would be affected by the proposal if accepted by the companies.

"Overtime work is too flexible to make any generalizations about," said Niebur, "but

General States Complete Faith Allies Will Win

Talks at Australian Parliament Dinner; Jap Seizure of Andaman Islands Spurs India Negotiations; China Invades Thailand.

(By Associated Press)

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, dramatically underlining his pledge of an Allied counter-offensive against Japan, told leaders of Australia today that "there can be no compromise . . . we shall win or we shall die" in the fight to drive Emperor Hirohito's invasion armies back out of the southwest Pacific.

"And to this end, I pledge you the full resources of all the mighty power of my country, and all the blood of my countrymen," Gen. MacArthur said, speaking at a dinner in parliament house, in Canberra.

"I have come as a soldier in a great crusade of personal liberty, as opposed to perpetual slavery. My faith in our ultimate victory is invincible."

Japan's capture of the strategic Andaman islands, sending a tongue of flame leaping toward India, spurred negotiations for the mobilization of India's 390,000,000 on the side of the Allies today as the situation in the battle of Burma grew ever more critical.

Burma is the eastern gateway to India.

Attempting to relieve pressure on Allied forces in central Burma, two strong Chinese columns were reported to have invaded Japanese-occupied Thailand at two points. Thailand adjoins northern Burma.

A Tokyo broadcast emphasized the importance of the Andaman group as a naval and air base for attacks on the sea lanes linking India with Britain, and declared the seizure put Japan "within dangerous striking distance of vital British military bases at Calcutta, Madras and Ceylon."

The islands, in the Bay of Bengal, are 650 miles from Calcutta, 850 from Madras and 800 from Ceylon.

While Japan thus aimed a direct threat at India, Sir Stafford Cripps, special British envoy, sped a series of conferences with Indian leaders in an attempt to iron out India's long-smoldering internal friction and weld the dominion's vast manpower into a united fighting force for the Allies.

Sir Stafford's efforts bore fruit when Maulana Abdul Kalan Azad, president of the Congress party, summoned the party's executive committee to consider the British government's plan for self-rule in India. Observers said this was a sign of definite progress.

In addition, Mohandas K. Gandhi, powerful champion of India's campaign for independence, was scheduled to confer with Sir Stafford tomorrow.

Countering British pledges of greater freedom, Japan entered the struggle for control of India's millions with the announcement of an Axis-sponsored movement for Indian independence.

The Berlin radio broadcast a Tokyo dispatch saying representatives of the "Indian Independence party" from Hongkong, Malaya, Thailand and Shanghai—all under Japan's thumb—would convene in Tokyo on March 28.

"Definite measures will be undertaken in aid of the Indian in-

"The basic purpose of the order," the White House explained in a formal statement "is to put working capital financing on a war basis Up to now peacetime restrictions on banks and credit agencies have made it difficult for them to finance war production although the banks have been anxious to use their resources for prosecution of the war"

BOMB-SWEPT: Raiding Planes Range From Murmansk to Ruhr

(By Associated Press)

Tempestuous aerial blows ranging from arctic Murmansk to Germany's industrial Ruhr valley and the white cliffs of Dover were reported today as Prime Minister Winston Churchill sounded a rare note of optimism with the declaration that the Allies "cannot lose this war except through our own fault"

On the Russian front, Soviet dispatches told a story of mounting German slaughter along the vast battle line, while a bulletin from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters acknowledged a fresh wave of Red army assaults.

During the night, RAF warplanes "very heavily bombed" German war foundries in the Ruhr, the London air ministry announced and pounded the German U-boat base at St. Nazaire on the Nazi-occupied French coast. The magnitude of the offensive was indicated by the air ministry's acknowledgement that 11 RAF bombers were lost.

Vichy reported that RAF planes also "stormed" Paris in a 90-minute pamphlet raid, warning that they would return to bomb French factories working for Hitler's military machine.

The Nazi high command said German night raiders attacked Dover on the southeast English coast, inflicting "great damage" to military installations

Soviet dispatches reported that 66 German planes raided the Arctic Circle port of Murmansk, key Soviet base for the arrival of United States war supplies, and that more than 100 planes, raiders and defenders, battled over the city at one time. Eleven German planes were reported shot down.

On the Soviet front, Hitler's headquarters reported that the long Russian winter was breaking amid a "continuing thaw" and de-

ASSAULT: Japs Unleash Heavy Corregidor Raid; Lose 4 Planes

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—For the third consecutive day Japanese bombers today unleashed their fury on Corregidor—fifty-four heavy bombers participating in the assault—but the blazing guns of General Jonathan M. Wainwright's forces turned back the attack with heavy anti-aircraft fire that cost the enemy four planes

Announcement was made by the war department in a communique which stated that the latest raid lasted for six hours

The planes shot down boosted to at least seven the number of Jap aircraft destroyed since heavy raids were renewed by the enemy three days ago in an obvious attempt to silence the powerful defending batteries

While all four of the island forts guarding the entrance to Manila bay were subjected to the bombardment, the war department said that most of the missiles were concentrated on Corregidor, key to the American defense of Batan.

The communique made no mention of the type of planes used, but it was believed that the latest attack was executed mostly by the "new type" aircraft which appeared for the first time last Tuesday.

There was no indication that the heavy raids are meeting with any more success than those made against the forts day after day early in January.

"Damage to military installations was slight and our troops

Mansfield Doesn't Work Itself Into a Lather Over U. S. Curb On Production of Razor Blades

The war may bring a lot of hardships, but a shortage of razor blades won't be one of them—at least not to Mansfield men.

So far as a News-Journal survey today could discover, no one in Mansfield was in a lather (pardon the pun, if it is one) over the news that came out of Washington yesterday that production of steel for safety razor blades would be curtailed so that the average number of blades available would be one per man per week.

To some men, of course, that will be a problem. Those with the tough beards- which once were something they bragged about—a blade may last only two days (two shaves) or perhaps three.

But they can strop them, and get an extra shave or two, even if they have to resort to rubbing a dulled blade around the inside of a dry water glass. That helps, a little. And, of course, there are strops of various kinds to be bought.

A lot of men, it seems, have gone over to the "dry shaver" method That's fine—unless the motors of their electric razors wear out and no more are available.

Another large group of men, it develops, can easily use a blade for a week. Some can get along even longer, they claim, even if they shave every day. And if they don't shave every day, the blade will last so much longer.

Some—probably facetiously—suggested that if the situation became acute, they'd just grow beards. But they were mostly married men, so you girls needn't concern yourselves about how you'll look being squired about town by a fellow in a Van Dyke.

And don't forget, fellows, there are barber shops (adv.) if the situation gets' too bad.

Usually the boys in the armed forces don't have to worry about rationing, but this time the War Production Board failed to exclude them from the razor blade order.

There's nothing in the army regulations about wearing whiskers, and the army press officers already are speculating on the novel military problem that will arise when soldiers try to stuff their full beards into gas masks.

The men in offices who must shave every day to keep up appearances are the ones who should be worrying about their beards, but most of them don't seem very concerned over the outlook.

WE WIN OR DIE, M'ARTHUR SAYS TO AUSTRALIANS

Jap Island Seizure Spurs India Talks; Chinese Invade Thailand.

dependence movement," the broadcast said.

Other major developments:

AUSTRALIA—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Allied supreme commander in the southwest Pacific, paid his first visit to Australia's capital and immediately conferred with Prime Minister John Curtin on plans for defense of the "down under" continent and for an ultimate offensive against Japan.

Members of the United Nations war council attended the meeting, paving the way for important military sessions next week.

In Washington, it was announced that President Roosevelt had ordered the nation's highest award for valor, a Congressional Medal of Honor, sent to Gen. MacArthur for "his utter disregard of personal danger under heavy fire . . . his calm judgment in each crisis."

BURMA—British headquarters reported mounting Japanese pressure against Allied lines from the south and east, with enemy parachute troops seeking to foment native revolt.

In addition to active operations in the region of Chinese-held Toungoo, 150 miles north of the Japanese-occupied capital, a British communique told of invasion concentrations at two points on the Rangoon-Prome road in the Irrawaddy river valley to the west, in the Minhla-Tharrawaddy area and north of Kyangin.

The latter was officially described as a large mixed force heading toward Prome, 40 miles away, and Burmese oil fields.

While transport difficulties of the United Nations were tremendous, Japan was reported to be facing a shipping problem in any further extension of her program of conquest.

"Free Europe," Allie review of international affairs, which is published in London, estimated bombs, shells and torpedoes of Australian-British-Dutch-United States forces had knocked out of action about 1,000,000 of the 4,000,000 tons of shipping the Japanese originally were said to have had available for troop movements.

The publication did not touch upon possible invasion gains through seizure of Allied craft, but said Japan "must exercise caution, for about 130,000 tons of shipping are needed to transport a modern division with equipment."

Jap Planes Bomb New Guinea Coast

SAN FRANCISCO —(INS)— The Melbourne radio said today that Madang on the northern coast of New Guinea was bombed by eight Japanese planes March 15.

The Australian broadcast, heard by CBS, indicated that news of the raid was unknown until it was brought in by native runners.

"The Japanese dropped 30 bombs but caused only slight damage," the broadcast said. "Madang is still in our hands."

MacArthur Pledges 'Full Resources'

CANBERRA — (AP) — General Douglas MacArthur pledged tonight that "there can be no compromise; we shall win or we shall die, and to this end I pledge you the full resources of all the mighty power of my country and all the blood of my countrymen."

At the height of a historic dinner in parliament house, the first American commander ever to lead united forces of United States and Australian troops declared his confidence—the "unbreakable faith of a free man"—in ultimate victory.

"There is a link that binds our countries together," he declared. "I have come as a soldier in a great crusade of personal liberty as opposed to perpetual slavery. My faith in our ultimate victory is invincible.

"I bring you tonight the unbreakable faith of a free man."

Prime Minister John Curtin, who pored over battle plans with MacArthur before the dinner, declared that under the American general's leadership "the war can be fought with dynamic energy and inflexible purpose."

Curtin declared that MacArthur had the fullest confidence of Australia's war council.

"Forced as we are to battle on our own soil," Curtin said, "the plans we are making are not matters for publication. I have no doubt that just as we can surprise the enemy we will gratify ourselves. News of what we have done and not news of what we intend will be the only kind of news which the war council can from now on make available."

MacArthur, in his new role of United Nations supreme commander in the Southwest Pacific, plunged deep into conferences with the commonwealth's leaders as soon as he arrived here today on his first visit to the Australian capital.

nection with another section of the bill which would limit war profits to 6 per cent.

"The wage cuts which would be caused by this bill would simply result in further benefits to employers who already show high profit levels," the CIO head asserted.

"With their backs bent over their machines, their hearts and minds devoted to increased and ever increased production, the workers now look over their shoulders and find behind them a knife upraised," Murray went on. "This committee has a great responsibility to determine whether that knife will be plunged."

Green asserted that time lost by strikes since Pearl Harbor has been "only one day a man for thirty years of work."

"Our men and women are on the job," he declared. "They are doing the work that must be done for victory. They are setting production records. They are beating schedules every day. They are proving themselves real soldiers of production on the home front."

BUTLER TEMPER FLARES ANEW

Acid Thrown on Teacher's Coat Called Aftermath of School Scrap Month Ago.

burns in his coat yesterday. He told the sheriff, however, that he had not worn the coat for two or three days and the acid may have been poured on the coat several days ago.

The act of vandalism came close on the heels of the slashing of the tires on an automobile owned by Kinsey Morgan, member of the Butler board of education. Morgan's tires were cut to ribbons early last week while the car was parked in Butler.

The sheriff said both acts apparently were outgrowth of the temporary suspension of Supt. Weekly and the school strike that followed on Feb. 6. Millard was named by the school board as acting superintendent, but the school was closed a few hours after he was appointed. Weekly was re-instated and took charge when the school reopened four days later.

Millard told the sheriff he believed the coat was damaged while it was hanging in a closet at the school, leading the sheriff to believe that some one regularly in the building may have poured the acid on it.

Sheriff Robinson said he was not certain of the kind of acid used. The liquid burned seven or eight holes in the back and sides of the coat.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The treasury was revealed today to be investigating the lush salaries and bonuses paid to executives and employes of Jack and Heintz, Incorporated, a Cleveland firm which manufactures airplane starters.

Randolph E. Paul, tax adviser for the treasury, told the house naval affairs committee yesterday the treasury would determine whether to bring charges against the company under the internal revenue code.

William S. Jack, founder of the company, testified before the committee earlier in the week that he drew $145,854 in salaries and bonuses in 1941.

BOMBERS RIP AT RUHR DISTRICT

Russians Claim Mounting of Slaughter Among Nazi Invasion Forces.

clared that tank-led Red army attacks in the Donets river basin "collapsed in bitter hand-to-hand fighting" with German-Rumanian troops.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported heavy fighting on the Kalinin front, between Leningrad and Smolensk, where the Russians have been slowly closing a death trap around the German 16th army in the Staraya Russa sector.

Tass said Red army troops beat off three Nazi counterattacks in a day and annihilated more than 1,500 men.

See Hitler Balkan Army As Boomerang

LONDON—(AP)—Nazi machinations to get at least 750,000 men from the Axis' Balkan junior partners to help fight Hitler's wars were charged today by British diplomatic sources who gleefully predicted they might prove a boomerang.

Instead of getting men, said these informants with close continental connections, Hitler may have to increase his own garrisons in southeast Europe to squelch an unsought war situation aroused by distrust and reawakened old enmities stirred by his recruiting efforts.

"Frankly," said one observer, "we are delighted with the situation."

Furthermore, they declared Nazi plans to overawe Turkey with tales of German army masses on her European frontier and actual Bulgarian concentrations have "not had the slightest effect on the Turks."

King Boris of Bulgaria, now the fuehrer's visitor, is said to have been offered a slice of Rumanian territory and post-war control of the Dardanelles in return for the services of his army.

Bulgarian troops, however, would be an unlikely choice for the Russian front for, it was pointed out, the Bulgars and Slavs who feel a close racial kinship to the Russians and the Communist party is stronger in Bulgaria than in any other Balkan state.

Dutch Reported to Have Destroyed Cinchona Trees In Java.

CHICAGO — (INS) — The Dutch were so thorough-going in their scorched earth policy that American farmers and nurserymen must begin the cultivation of the cinchona tree, from the bark of which quinine is obtained, Dr. Paul J. Kolachov of Louisville, Ky., declared today.

Dr. Kolachov told the annual Chemirgue conference in Chicago that the Dutch destroyed all the cinchona trees before they left the island of Java to the invading Japanese.

Mansfield Doesn't Work Up A Lather on Razor Blade Curb

Prosecutor Harold Lutz commented that "We men will have the best alibi ever for not shaving every day now. Maybe we'll get to join the House of David instead of the army."

Here's the way Mansfielders regard the impending shortage of blades:

Floyd A Tomlinson, mail carrier—I can always go back to the old open blade razor. Maybe they won't ration it.

C. L. Mitchell, county commissioner—You may see three men with long beards lined up here at the desk one of these days if the situation becomes too acute. Commissioner Ray Hout added, however, that he uses the kind of blades that can be stropped and gets extra service from them.

Howard Wenning, county clerk of courts, was a little concerned about the blade-a-week rationing. "I get only two shaves per blade, and I don't know how I'm going to make them last me all week," he added.

Curt Williams—Court clerk, "I'm not worrying about the razor blade problem. I have my own electric shaver and my brother has left his at home Tuesday when he was called into the army."

Paul L. Kelley—City auditor, "It'll just take a couple of extra licks on the old razor strop to carry me through. I can make a blade last three weeks if necessary.

Traffic Commissioner Freud C. Boals—"One a week will be plenty for me. If necessary I can go back to using a drinking glass to sharpen up the blades."

John L. Catlett—State representative, "If there isn't any shortage of electricity, I won't have to worry because I've been using my electric shaver for years."

Richard Wynn—bank employe, "The razor blade shortage won't mean much to me. I use an electric razor all the time. Before that wears out, Uncle Sam's army will be taking care of my shaving needs.

Emmett McIntyre—Restaurant worker, "One razor blade a week will be more than plenty for me. I'm lucky enough to have both a light beard and light colored hair. I don't have to worry."

PARTY PATRIOTS ORGANIZE CLUB

each club that has contributed will have a voice in determining which civic projects or worthy charity shall benefit from the funds accruing from the redeemed bonds.

Accounts will be kept by the Community Fund and reports will be made to the participating clubs each month.

The "Party Patriots" have not one, but three purposes: conservation of food supplies, purchase of war bonds and provision for future community needs.

If your club has not been contacted and is interested in "joining up," or if you desire additional information members of Mrs. Bishop's committee can tell you all about the proposed program. They are Mrs. Nelson Neff, Mrs. Dean Rex, Mrs. Harry Seole, Mrs. George Harmony, Mrs. Le-Moine Derr and Mrs. Edwin Cooper.

The Teachers' Wives are confident that a large number of local club women will be "Party Patriots" in the near future. And there's a definite possibility that the plan will serve as an inspiration to other cities to adopt the slogan. "No food when you entertain—that money will buy a plane!"

OVERTIME PAY CUT PROPOSED

Union Offers To Eliminate Charge in Proposal Being Sent Plants Here.

with Mansfield gearing itself for war work, it will mean thousands of dollars in the long run."

Niebur said that he was conferring with the executive boards of the separate union units and that these boards in the near future would open negotiations with their companies on a supplement to their contracts embracing the new proposals.

Executives of the four companies withheld comment, saying they had not been approached by the union officials on the matter as yet.

Local 711 has adopted the following recommendation in accordance with similar action taken by the general officers of the CIO affiliate:

"We hereby make the following offer to our country, to hold good for the duration of the war and only for that period:

"1. We will work for straight time instead of time and a half on Saturdays.

"2. We will work for straight time instead of double time on Sundays and holidays.

The statement then said that the companies had negotiated for war contracts up until 1915 on the basis of paying these overtime payments and asked that the payments be turned over to the U. S. Treasury so that the plants would not benefit financially by the plan.

The union asked that the union be allowed to check on these payments at any time and provided that the overtime be paid in accord with rates set by the Navy, Army and other government agencies.

The recommendation made by the national union also said that the union would undertake to increase production by 15 per cent, using the production figures prior to the Pearl Harbor attack as a measure for normal production.

In return for these concessions, Neibur said that the union would ask the companies to discontinue any downward changes in rates to pay day workers an increase in hourly earnings equal to the percentage paid incentive workers, to maintain prices and job values on the basis of the normal effort, and to insure that after the war, the company shall make no effort to cut prices on job values because of "this super-normal total war effort."

Accomplishments 'Under Pressure'

UNDER PRESSURE of congressional probers a Cleveland firm accused of war profiteering agrees that salaries of three top officials will be dropped from $100,000 a year each, to $15,000, "for the duration," and that a woman secretary's salary will be cut from $25,000 to $6,000.

Under pressure, labor union leaders have agreed to waive double-time payment for Sunday and holiday work in all war industries "for the duration."

Under pressure, the wave of jurisdictional strikes which hampered defense production all through last year and contributed to the unpreparedness of the United States to meet Japan's first vicious thrusts, subsided to considerable extent—so that work is now being done that should have been done a year or more ago.

Under pressure, congressmen repealed a law in which they had previously voted pensions to themselves.

Under pressure, a dancing protege of Eleanor Roosevelt was dropped from the payroll of civilian defense and further ridding of OCD frills and furbelows was promised.

Under pressure, congress is now moving toward legislation designed to remove possibility of exorbitant war profits and skyrocketing of prices on war materials.

Under pressure, resulting from rubber shortage, millions of motorists are now cutting down speed to conserve tires, when—a little while ago—there was no response to the appeal to reduce speed in order to save lives.

Under pressure of rationing, people will soon be limited to less sugar than they could have had if there had been no hoarding.

Under pressure, local officials sometimes start to enforce laws which they prefer to ignore, because of "pressure" from known violators.

Why, in a democracy of self-governing people, must there be such a show of "pressure" before anything can be accomplished?

Why wasn't war profiteering made impossible BEFORE such scandalous banditry as is now being revealed could be perpetrated?

Why weren't steps taken long ago to eliminate the racketeering phases of the organized labor movement and restore the high principles of its legitimate purposes?

Why have billions of dollars of public money been frittered away in boondoggling "projects" conceived by visionaries and carried through by incompetent political hangers-on?

Democracy presupposes individual and group capacity for self government. Need for "pressure," in order to induce law observance and creditable conduct, argues against acceptance of the theory that self government is practicable.

The opening words of Lincoln's Gettysburg address need be more frequently emphasized as the present war proceeds: ". . . our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure."

Now it is a world war, instead of a civil war, in which we are engaged—and this is an even greater testing time. Sometime we shall know whether "a nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure."

Longevity Expands Manpower

BETTER HEALTH and longer life play an important but invisible part in the national military situation. The longer the average life term, the more military service may be obtained from a given population, because their potential service period is longer than it used to be. Thus, with legal provision for registering young men at 18, and with the top level for military registration raised to include 64, it is possible, in theory at least, for citizens to be eligible for service over a period of nearly half a century.

Such official extension of service time or eligibility would matter little if only a few men were living to the age of 50 or beyond, a situation which prevailed not many generations ago. But with life expectancy now said to have risen above 60 years, the effect on military figures is evident. Thus selective service registration merely in the age brackets of 45 to 64 is expected to make 13,000,000 more men theoretically eligible, and the total number listed from 18 upward to 64 might be three times that many.

Of course such figures are merely theoretical. The highest estimates of men now expected to serve in this war run to about 10,000,000. But the additional numbers available for collateral use are reassuring.

Guayule Gains Prominence

POSSIBLE sources of rubber are being so much discussed nowadays that the guayule (pronounced wye-you-lee) shrub, which grows in western United States and Mexico, has stepped into more prominence than its sagebrush appearance might seem to deserve.

A bulletin just issued by the Ohio State university research foundation reveals that Mexico produces about 6,900 tons of guayule rubber a year and that California, in 1941, grew 500 tons, or about one-tenth of one per cent of U. S. normal requirements. The shrub grows to a height of about two feet and will stand drought and frost. Plants are ordinarily cut when four years old and production is about 1,200 pounds of rubber per acre.

It is estimated that at that rate four million acres of guayule would be needed to supply the United States with rubber, with a million acres harvested and re-planted every year.

The idea of extracting rubber from certain "weeds" is not new—in fact some Mansfield people lost money by buying stock in such an experimental enterprise around thirty years ago—but not much was done about it while plenty of lower-cost rubber could be imported from the Far East. Now it's a quite different matter and the weed field is being thoroughly canvassed for latex potentialities.

One 212-pound visitor regrets that he can't get in the air service—because parachutes are constructed to sustain only 200 pounds . . . leaving twelve pounds to worry about getting down.

While Hitler explains backsets by going back 140 years to find as cold a winter, the Russians—who should know—say it's merely the coldest winter this year.

The Russians report recovery of Dnieperopetrovsk, which, for convenience of pronunciation, can be referred to as "D."

WON'T SOMEBODY JOIN HIM?

How Preserve 'Our Way of Life'?

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

AS I'VE had previous occasion to quote him, Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, anti-warlike as he has been heretofore, says we're in a war now that we've got to win.

He makes the point, however, that we could do such a thing as to win, in the sense of beating the Axis, and still lose the very thing we are fighting for, which is preservation of the "American way of life"—political and economic freedom, free government and free enterprise.

The Sunflower statesman is a member of a congressional subcommittee engaged in a hunt for means to relieve the commercial distress of small businessmen caught in the war production jam. Before the committee recently appeared, as a witness, War Production Manager Donald Nelson, and "I asked him," relates the senator, "what could be done for the auto and tire trade, 40,000 dealers and shops, some 200,000 men out of business and out of jobs."

Answering his query, the Kansas solon continues, "Manager Nelson responded bluntly, 'Nothing. They're not needed in war production.'"

Senator Capper finds no fault with Manager Nelson for taking the position he does, because his task is to produce a maximum of what's needed to fight the enemy; no other duty, such as preserving the American way of life for the future, is incumbent on him in the present emergency. He's perfectly right in not giving a thought to anything else, so far as he's concerned, personaly and officially, the Kansan agrees.

It's Up to Congress.

Congress, though, he contends, will be derelict if, after voting everything necessary to win the war, it "folds its hands saying, 'That's all that can be done.'"

He's for taxes, appropriations, grants of full war powers to the president, all sorts of sacrifices, but he warns that, unless we somehow "preserve at least the framework of private business and industry in the United States, we'll very likely find after the war's over and won, that the government's the only business left operating in the country." Devising means to save the framework is a chore he considers a congresional responsibility.

"But it's going to be a tough job and no mistake," he admits.

Senator Capper, be it noted, does not snipe at the war administration. He's of the opposite political party but he doesn't indulge in bad tempered criticism of the executive management of our emergency effort.

Some of his fellow lawmakers do. Some of the press do also.

The mildness of the Kansas senator's comment relative to Production Manager Nelson's attitude is in sharp contrast with one Washington daily's current arraignment of Lowell Mellett's Office of Government Reports and the Civilian Defense Office, as "boondoggling" and "fan dancing."

Even if they're open to a certain amount of legitimate criticism, this has been so bitter as to sound personal.

Chairman Adolph J. Sabath of the house of representatives' rules committee discussed the matter in a talk on Capitol Hill the other day. If the legislators had listened to President Roosevelt sooner, he remarked, the national chief would not have had to adopt several of the more or less arbitrary-appearing policies he's had to resort to, in the interest of urgently-required rapid action.

Snipers Blamed.

Other commentators concur. Sniping at the White House, they assert, has forced it into what seems like a dictatorial direction, and, if it continues, may end in giving our government quite a totalitarian aspect — which may be liquidated at the war's end, and may not, they add; it'll depend on who's in the executive mansion then. The snipers, in short, are accused of shoving us, of course unintentionally, down the very alley they're so much afraid we're heading for.

Yesterday's most 100 per cent pacificators are today's most 100 per cent belligerent all-outers.

Man About Manhattan

Emergency Action

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK There were no strap-hangers, but every seat on the big commuters' bus was taken. We cut our way through the tortuous midtown traffic and headed toward the mouth of the Lincoln Tunnel. A little man across from me had his head buried in the New York Times. Next to him was a man who had his head buried in the New York Times. You could have fired a six-shooter through the roof and I don't think either would have noticed it.

Finally we plunged into the tunnel. The driver was going pretty fast. He gauged his speed by the speed of the truck just ahead of him, which was going just as fast as the law allows tunnel drivers to go.

This truck was piled high with blue packages of a uniform size. They were about the shape and size of a cracker box. There were about twice as many packages on the truck as it should have had.

SUDDENLY a rope snapped and a layer of blue packages sailed through the air. They banged against the sides of the tunnel. They banged against our bus. One of them knocked the hat off a cop who was patrolling his tunnel beat.

Our bus at once slowed to a halt and back of us you could hear screaming brakes as the line of traffic was forced to do likewise.

But the truck ahead kept right on going. So did the packages, which by now were littered over a quarter mile of tunnel.

A cop leaped to the wall-railing and threw a switch. All lights turned red. You could hear the blasts of the police whistles. Motorcycle cops from each entrance of the tunnel roared up. The cops on duty and the motorcycle cops leaped into the tunnel and began tossing the blue cases up on the ramp. Some of the packages had burst open, and what appeared to be little cans of evaporated milk were rolling under the automobiles.

THE cops did a good job. That's one thing you can say about the Tunnel Cops. They're New York's finest. They're never better than in an emergency. They are assigned to the tunnel by the Port Authority. I've seen them handle crack-ups and other emergency assignments and they're superb.

A cop grabbed a telephone and headed the run-away truck off at the other end of the tunnel.

Then the go-ahead signal was given. Order was restored. There had been shrill blasts and pounding motorcycles, but no confusion.

The big commuters' bus slipped into gear and we began to push forward.

The man across the aisle who had his head buried in the New York Times suddenly jerked up his head.

"What happened?" he wanted to know.

The man next to him who had his head buried in the New York Times, jerked his head up. He looked around.

"Happened? Oh! Some damn-fool driver holding us up I guess."

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Parents of Boys In the Service Demand Domestic Foes Be Jailed

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—After three months of temporizing with native Fascist champions, Attorney General Francis Biddle is finally going to get tough—on direct personal orders of the president.

Roosevelt directed Biddle to take vigorous legal action against certain factional leaders who have been publicly denouncing the war against the Axis and in some instances actually expressing pleasure over Jap victories.

Complaints have poured into Washington from parents of boys in the armed services demanding that these domestic foes be jailed. But Biddle demurred on the ground of "preserving civil liberties."

Shortly after Pearl Harbor, FBI agents arrested Robert Noble, rabid Los Angeles Fascist leader, on serious charges involving statements concerning the war. Despite the FBI's evidence, Biddle ordered Noble released.

This brought down a storm of protests on Biddle's head that steadily increased as the hostile operations of these elements became bolder and more outspoken. Still Biddle refused to allow either the FBI or federal district attorneys, who were champing at the bit, to crack down.

Finally, White House advisers, alarmed over the situation, took the matter direct to the president. They laid before him a mass of evidence dealing with Noble, Father Coughlin, Francis P. Moran of Boston, Gerald L. K. Smith of Michigan and Charles B. Hudson of Omaha.

One document shown Roosevelt was the March 16 issue of Coughlin's weekly publication which declared that a "world-wide sacred war" was declared against Germany nine years ago. The publication also attacked aid to Russia, denounced the British bombing of French plants making Nazi supplies, and contained such statements as:

Unless the German forces can overcome Russia and successfully invade England by the end of September, there is every evidence that the entire world will have elected to experience a blood bath the like of which was never imagined by the most poetic minds."—"It has been the practiced policy of the Roosevelt administration to favor the Chinese in their war against Japan. This policy has rankled in the hearts of the Nipponese war lords who are devoted to the policy of Asia for the Asiatic, a policy which, after all, is nothing more than an expression of our own Monroe Doctrine."

After carefuly examining the evidence, the president summoned Biddle, ordered him to get tough and do so immediately.

Army vs. Navy.

COL. JOSEPH E. MYERS, retired, president of the Aviation Defense association, recently testified before the house rules committee that an army pilot told him army air patrols were not free to drop bombs on submarines until they got clearance from the navy.

When an army bomber spots a submarine, Col. Myers said, it has to withhold action until it can report the location to naval authorities and get permission to attack.

Navy's reason for this requirement is ostensibly to protect U. S. submarines, but why they cannot inform the army in advance of location of U. S. submarines remains unexplained. Also what value are U. S. submarines off the Atlantic coast these days?

Aluminum Slow-Down.

THOUGH the great majority of labor is 100 per cent for speeding the war program, a recent incident at the Aluminum Corporation plant in Cleveland illustrates how a small group is giving a black eye to all of labor.

Last week the Aluminum company put into effect a bonus plan in line with Roosevelt's proposal to speed production through voluntary incentive.

But before the workers had a chance to try out the plan, they went on strike, fearing a speed-up which would force them to accept faster standards of work indefinitely.

But finally the workers agreed they had not given the bonus plan a fair trial, so they went back to work. But then they instituted a definite slowdown, apparently to make sure that the bonus system does not work.

As a result, two aluminum furnaces have been operating at only 50 per cent capacity; and six others at far less.

Meanwhile the Cleveland Ordnance District telegraphed the war department in Washington:

"Union contends there is no slowdown . . . Unless Delco-Remy company, Anderson, Ind.; Ellison Engineering company, Indianapolis; and other companies supplied by Alcoa have backlogs of material, which appears improbable, they will be seriously affected by labor trouble.

"FBI entered picture today when a union steward, William P. Finctre, pulled a thermo couple out because he wanted furnace temperature to run higher. This results in inferior metal which would crack up in planes. After thermo couple had been replaced, Finctre again pulled it out.

"Alex Balint, reportedly an alien and communist, who had moved to the background as head of Die-Casters union, has again come to the foreground and was active in tonight's meeting."

Merry-Go-Round.

GERMANY is famed for its gusty drinking, but according to Intelligence reports, war shortages have produced almost complete prohibition in Naziland. Only very weak beer and cider, and even then only in small quantities, is available. All spirits have been ordered confiscated for the army . . . Lawrence Dennis wrote in one of his proFascist books: "If there are superior races, it is obvious that the Germans and Japanese belong in that class." Now he seeks an army commission . . . Kansas Democratic leaders are complaining to national party chiefs over lack of state campaign funds, charging that National Committeeman Lynn Brodrick is making no effort to aid the state organization.

Latest candidate to be touted for Miss Frances Perkins' job as secretary of labor is bespectacled Arthur Altmeyer, chairman of the Social Security Board. Altmeyer is being boosted by what is known in Washington as the "Falls River (Md.) crowd," leaders of whom are Budget Director Harold Smith, National Labor Board Member William Leiserson, and Mrs. Clare Beyer, aggressive subordinate of Miss Perkins . . . Congressional critics of President Roosevelt are caustically denounced by A. F. Whitney, white-crested president of the Railroad Trainmen, in the latest issue of the union's magazine. In a lead editorial Whitney declares, "No congressman or congressional committee, no senator or group in the senate, no Axis agent or anyone else seeking to use the war to discredit the president will throw any sand in our eyes in any way useful in their desire to advance a selfish or an ignoble purpose."

Watching Trends

—By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—This war isn't like the last. Nobody who has been in both will even argue the point. But in some respects history does repeat.

For example: President Roosevelt has come out for federal dormitories on the Mall. The Mall is the most picturesque strip og government land in the nation. It stretches from the Lincoln Memorial and the Reflecting Pool to the backdoor of the Capitol. In its path are the Washington Monument, practically all of the modern government buildings, the famous old Smithsonian Institution, the Mellon Gallery of priceless art treasures.

No person seriously interested in the war effort is going to complain about disfigurement of the Mall. This is war. We can well afford to hide a few of the national shrines behind temporary buildings, if it will help us get the job done.

BUT when the president expresses personal interest in temporary housing for war workers and suggests just how the architects should lay them out and where they should be placed, it's hard to keep from barking back to 1918.

President Wilson took a personal interest in temporary dormitories for war workers, particularly women. He drove around the capital, he picked out a site—on the Capitol plaza. He made architectural suggestions. And in August, 1918, the dormitories were under construction.

The rooms were nine by 11 feet. (President Roosevelt suggests similar rooms, with the only important change that the walls need not extend to the ceilings). There was a central bathing room at one end; a recreation and reception hall at the other, on each floor. President Roosevelt's suggestions for architectural comforts and recreation do not vary importantly. The president suggests a rental of 50 cents a day.

BUT what happened in 1918 is interesting. The buildings were not completed until after the war was over. Still, there was plenty of war workers on hand to fill them, even in 1919. The only trouble was that the construction of the buildings, the management, the allocation of rooms (it was claimed political appointees with comparatively high salaries were given first choice of quarters) were under fire of congressional investigating committees from the time the first foundation was shoveled out.

Tenants organized into vigilante committees and took their demands before congress. Their complaints were endless. At one time, in the women's dormitories, armed guards patrolled the halls to keep order.

And it was ten years before these temporary buildings were torn down.

If history repeats now in results obtained, the administration is in for a good old 1919 headache. It's just a question whether that will be a lesser or greater migraine than continuing with present inadequacies of housing for war workers in the capital.

Pontiac's War Winner.

Pontiac, Mich., is trying out a plan to save rubber and help win the war in one wide way. Almost all of that city's 26,000 factory employes are working on war material which is evidence of patriotic interest. Beginning this week the workers arranged to get to their jobs by using 8,000 fewer automobiles. They are sharing the use of cars so that each factory-bound auto carries at least five persons. Plants have three first shifts starting one hour apart to help the public transportation system to carry the load. Schools open a half-hour later so pupils may walk. Downtown store hours are 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. to keep shoppers out of the work rush hours. Wives pledge themselves not to use the family cars left at home during the day.

Pontiac and the nation will note what it has in the way of practical tire conservation to make our rubber stretch all the way to victory.—Toledo Blade.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Ludwig von Beethoven, renowned musical composer, died this day in 1827. Beethoven had a musical heritage as his father and grandfather were both so inclined. At the age of ten he composed and published a set of variations on a march by Dressler. Later he amazed the famous Mozart, who was engaged to be his teacher.

A Farmer's Diary

Insects

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

OF ALL living things, insects, whether large or small, are in many ways most interesting. They are found in the upper air about our faces, on the soil, and at varying depths within the soil. Among them are weavers of cotton and silken goods, basket makers, cement workers, pottery manufacturers, tillers of the soil, stock raisers—in fact the mysterious hordes of insects possess much of the ingenuity of human kind.

They would seem to have their hates and loves; their greed, theft, selfishness and murder; their social cliques and solitary wanderers. It is evident that no insect actually thinks, in the human sense of the word, but they do seem to possess superhuman knowledge of various kinds, set into their being by a wise Creator.

There is the hunting wasp, unlaught by science, yet it will bring into its well-built cells, spiders, and crickets, to feed expected young, unhatched for many months to come. Its prey is not killed, but paralyzed.

Another species of wasp seems so familiar with the anatomy of a well-armored beetle that it crawls upon its victim, places its forefeet heavily on the back to force a ventral plate apart, then curls the stinger's sharp end into the tiny opening, and in a few seconds the beetle is dead. To kill a cricket, this same wasp seems to know the location of three nerve centers. It stabs deftly in three different places and death follows instantly. Yet with all the wasps preying upon spiders, crickets and beetles, the three latter are more prolific, and overcome the loss.

The same power that made the slayer of the insect world, or of the world of lower animal life, also provided a means of escape from extinction. The ants do not war among themselves, but gang up upon their enemies. Even predatory animals are not all bad—they help to keep the balance of Nature even.

PUPILS EARN WHILE LEARNING

Senior High Student Salesmen Receive $424 in Month They Worked in Stores.

Pupils in the distributive education classes at Senior high school earned $424.55 last month while they were learning sales methods in business establishments, the monthly report compiled by John C. Stout, co-ordinator for the classes, showed today.

The total February earnings represented an average of $4.60 per week for each of the 23 pupils who worked after school hours and on Saturdays. Twenty-four pupils are taking the sales courses.

The student workers were employed in 15 business places during the month, working an average of 17 hours a week. Stout, a Senior high school instructor, coordinates the pupils' classwork with their actual sales experience in Mansfield stores.

Stout has been asked by the Mansfield Independent Grocers' Institute to teach evening classes for grocery clerks in a course the institute plans to inaugurate this spring. Ralph A. Schad, manager of the institute, said plans for the school will be completed at a meeting next week.

GLUTTONS DIE

NORTH BEND, Ore. — (U.P.) — Vern C. Gorst was puzzled at the death of two large blue cranes he found in his back yard, but a post-mortem solved the mystery.

The cranes, abnormally overweight and their stomachs bulging, had devoured nearly 5,000 small trout from Gorst's fish pond.

URGES BRANDING

DODGE CITY, Kan. — (CP) — Sheriff Harry Brown of Dodge City believes that automobile tires should be branded so that every motorist can identify his tires if they are stolen.

He suggests that the brand be placed on the tires when they are retreated.

If some plan can be worked out, Brown says he will organize a vigilante society to register the brands and track down the tire "rustlers."

Wins Entry Into Navy By Drinking Gallons Of Milk

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — (INS) — The milk-drinking marathon of Kenny Goslin, young inspector at the Curtiss-Wright propellor plant here, has ended in victory.

The light weight of Goslin had prevented him from joining the navy air service, but now he has been admitted. The navy helped him win, however, by lowering its weight requirements in Kenny's case by one pound and a half.

Kenny had increased his weight from 120 pounds to 125½ pounds by drinking huge quantities of milk, but he couldn't for the life of him, make 126 pounds, the navy's first minimum. He was able to make 124½ pounds, however, and now is ready for primary flight training.

During the past four months Kenny was rejected by three navy boards and one army board because of his weight.

Pals of Goslin for many weeks provided him with milk, kept his weight chart and persuaded him to get eight hours of sleep a night.

When Peter Minuit purchased Manhattan Island from the Indians for $24 in trinkets the town's population was less than 200.

Musical Show.

"Louisiana Purchase," the technicolor musical extravaganza starring Bob Hope, Vera Zorina and Victor Moore continues at the Ohio through Friday. New Orleans at Mardi Gras time furnishes the background for the story that deals with Hope's efforts to outwit a ring of tricky politicians through framing a visiting senator. Moore plays the Senator and Miss Zorina the beautiful decoy. Irene Bordoni, the French star of many musical hits on Broadway and a supporting cast that includes hundreds of beautiful girls are other attractions in the production.

4-H Drama.

Jane Withers learns that vegetables can come out of the earth as well as out of a can in "Young America," the Madison attraction presenting the young star as a spoiled city child who learns about the ways of the country and 4-H clubs. Jane Darwell as the juvenile's grandmother reconciles the "spoiled brat" to country living and others who aid in the project are Robert Cornell and Lynne Roberts. "Pacific Blackout," showing Civilian Defense at work, is the second attraction. Robert Preston and Martha Driscoll are featured.

Romantic Drama.

"Lydia," the romantic drama starring Merle Oberon at the Park, tells the story of a Boston debutante at the turn of the century. The supporting cast includes George Reeves, Joseph Cotten, Hans Yaray and Alan Marshal in the roles of the men in the debutante's life and the players also include Edna May Oliver. The plot opening in 1880 continues into modern times with Miss Oberon affecting an amazing transition from youth to age. "Red River Valley," with Roy Rogers is the second attraction.

* * *

Mystery-Comedy.

PERSONAL TAX PAYMENTS LAG

Rush Looms as Deadline on April 1 Nears; 1,800 More Accounts Due.

Personal property owners in Richland county must file tax returns at the rate of 300 a day for the next week if all of them beat the April 1 filing deadline.

Approximately 3,000 of the 4,800 taxpayers expected to file their returns in the county this year have already filed, leaving about 1,800 to go, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said.

Personal tax payments for the first half of the year are lagging far behind receipts to this time last year, the county treasurer's figures showed.

Payments so far, with a week to go, total only $55,527. During the first-half period in 1941 collections amounted to $172,200.

Meanwhile, real estate tax receipts today had mounted to $663,322, promising one of the best first-half collections in recent years. The real estate collection closed last Friday, but Treasurer Charles C. Payne's staff has been counting mail receipts since then. A considerable number of checks mailed to the office remain to be tabulated.

BIT CONFUSING

WICHITA FALLS, Tex.—(U.P.)—Instructors at Sheppard Field, the world's largest Air Corps technical training school, will have to be good at remembering faces. In one instance names are going to be confusing.

Two students are named Donold L. Garner. The "L" in both cases stands for Leo. Both are from St. Louis. Both are 21 years old. Both listed mechanic school as a first choice when they were examined. Both passed. They are not related.

Parris avows childish love for pretty Renee.

CHAPTER VI

A few days later when they were coming home from school they overtook Willy McIntosh. He looked very solemn.

"What's the matter, Willy?" Parris asked.

"My pa is awful sick." He blurted the words, and tears stood in his brown eyes.

"What's the matter with him?" asked Renee.

"I don't know. Terrible bad though. He's going to have an operation today."

"Oh, my goodness!"

They walked slowly, keeping step with Willy, who delayed as much as possible. When they came to the crossroads where the big white Macintosh house stood in a grove of trees they saw a buggy standing at the gate.

"That's Dr. Gordon's buggy," Willy said as if to prove his story. "I guess he's performin' the operation."

"Well, Willy, I hope your papa'll—" Renee's speech was cut short by a dreadful sound. A long-drawn cry came from open windows. It was more like the howl of a dog. It mounted and mounted as though it would never stop, then broke into several short, quick sobs and died in a long moan. Renee turned pale and caught Parris by the arm.

"Good gracious, Willy," Renee spoke in a loud whisper, "didn't Dr. Gordon give your father chloroform?"

"I—I heard mama say he c-couldn't take chloroform because he's got heart disease."

The terrible yells began again. Willy threw his books into the ditch beside the road. His face was crimson, and he was crying aloud. Then he began to run toward the house. "He's got to quit that," he sobbed. "He's got to quit that. I'll—I'll kill that old durnfool doctor!"

Parris and Renee watched Willy as he dashed up the walk and flung himself at the front door. He wrenched and pulled at the door, but it was locked. He ran around toward the kitchen door crying, "He's got to quit that—I'll kill him—I'll kill him!"

"Come on, Parris, let's go home. I'm scared. I never heard a man cry and holler before, did you?"

The next day at school Parris overheard Miss Colt say to Miss Venable that Mr. Macintosh had died from shock. He wondered just what that meant. It was a long time before Parris could forget the sounds he had heard that afternoon. Whenever he saw Dr. Gordon dashing along the road behind his two high-spirited bays, he was reminded of it, and always he was divided between two feelings—one, a sort of terror of the man who cut people with knives, and the other an excited admiration. But it must be wonderful to be a doctor, anyhow, he decided. Dr. Gordon must be a very fine doctor. Everybody said so.

One thing, however, he was certain of. He was afraid of Dr. Henry Gordon.

Parris and Renee would have fallen quickly into their accustomed summer pastime had it not been for the sudden, inexplicable strictness of Sven, her father. "There is danger in mixing classes," he told Gudrun. "More—now that both of them are growing up."

The next week he forbade Renee to roam the place with Parris as she used to do, thrashing her soundly in the storm of tears and refusals to obey him that followed. Of all this she told Parris nothing until, one stolen afternoon, they went up through the spruce planting and down the other side to the pond—their "secret lake," as they always called it.

Renee stopped beneath the branches of the big crab apple tree and entered the canopied space beneath.

"Parris," she said softly.

He knelt beside her. "What's the matter, Renee?"

She told him, her hair, silver in the green shadows, falling over her face to hide the tears. "So you see, I can't be your sweetheart anymore," she whimpered.

"Oh, no, Renee!" he cried, taking her awkwardly in his arms, kissing her cheeks, stroking her head, rocking her gently.

"Papa said that if I—look!" She leaped to her feet and cowered against the tree.

"Parris, there was somebody in those bushes—somebody watching us. Maybe Papa."

He scrambled to his feet and stood close to her, holding her arms tight. "How do you know? Did you see anybody?"

"I saw somebody—I don't know who it was—oh—" she began to cry.

"Come on, Renee, let's go."

"No." She thought a minute. "You stay here, and I'll go first. You wait a good while."

"I better go with you."

"You do like I tell you. You wait."

Before he could argue further, she ran. He watched her blue dress fluttering down the long alley between the trees.

Later he went slowly down the same way she had gone. He thought first he had best go home some roundabout way, but he felt that he must see her—pass her house.

When he came in sight of the little cottage he was surprised. The doors were shut and the shades were drawn. He was about to pass when he heard voices. It was Sven—Gudrun, too. Without thinking he ran up the walk to the door. He could hear Sven cursing, and Gudrun saying something very loud. They were speaking Swedish, though, and he could not understand. Sven began to shout. Through it he heard a little wail that almost stopped his heart. Renee!

There was a thud on the door as though someone had been thrown against it. Then he heard the unmistakable swish of a heavy leather strap. He heard it strike flesh and heard Renee's piercing scream. He hurled himself against the door and shouted.

"Sven! Sven Gyllison—Sven—Sven . . ."

But Sven did not hear. Sven was cursing louder than ever. The sharp slap of the strap came faster and faster. Renee's screams ran together in a continued stream of sound. Still the murderous blows went on and on. The screams changed. They were suddenly hoarse—like the cries of an animal.

Parris whirled and leaned his back against the door. He flung his arms straight on either side to keep from falling. He looked up where a few clouds seemed to hang motionless. "Dear God—dear God—dear God—don't—don't let—"

Suddenly the terrible crying sank to a shaking moan and stopped, but the hideous swish of the strap went on—steadily—relentlessly.

Parris felt himself turn icy cold. He knew he was going to be sick. He threw out his hands as he saw the ground slanting sharply toward his face.

Think More and Punish Less

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.

I believe in the efficacy of punishment of children, even of corporal punishment for very young children.

I also believe that in the average home, punishment could and ought to be reduced about 95 per cent. Some parents punish and think afterward; most punish, thinking neither before nor afterward; a few intelligent ones do their thinking first and punish afterwards, and think so well that they find relatively few occasions for administering punishment.

Punishment which does not do some good, does harm. To be effective, punishment must be connected in the mind (nervous system) of the child with the specific thing to be avoided by him. This connection must be powerful enough to guarantee avoidance.

Must Be Immediate.

To be effective, particularly with the young child, punishment should be immediate and no exceptions should occur. Pain should follow the every performance of an act to be prevented.

With these principles in mind you can readily see good reason for the following statement:

Don't punish for thumb sucking, neither the child of two nor the child of six. In the first place, the impulse to put the thumb into the mouth is so overwhelming that the amount of pain necessary to overbalance the satisfaction which thumb sucking gives would have to be unreasonably great.

It would be impossible for the average parent to catch the child in 50 per cent of the times he sucks his thumb.

For similar reasons, you will not shame, scold or in any other way punish for nail biting.

Attention to Health.

Call upon your physician to help you build up the child's health, working out with him a plan by which the child will grow less weary, less excitable and more calm and comfortable and happy. Unsuccessful punishment is almost sure to increase nail biting as well as thumb sucking.

Consider swearing, for example. The little child ceases his profanity about as soon as he knows it does not shock his parents or other adults. He quietly can be led ot see that his loved ones do not use such language and in proportion as he is not annoyed by them and is led to esteem them, will he imitate their speech.

High Style Fashions, Fancy Work

By MARIAN MARTIN

Look "fair and younger" in this exciting frock, Pattern 9017. First fashion detail is the slim waistline . . . the waist seam dips in front and a panel effect is created by the bodice darts. Result: extra inches disappear! Second fashion detail—the sharp V neck and the ends outlined with lace or self-ruffling. Try a "camouflage print;" try the clever Sew Chart; try sewing-your-own to save!

Pattern 9017 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, and 48. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards 35 inch fabric.

Send Fifteen Cents (plus One Cent to cover cost of mailing) for this Marian Martin Pattern. Be sure to write plainly your Size, Name, Address and Style Number.

Send your order to The Mansfield News-Journal, Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

It's very important to know whether it's His or Hers or Yours or Mine! Besides, towels and pillow cases are smarter for these colorful monograms in gay colors! Pattern 283 contains a transfer pattern of 12 motifs ranging from 5x5⅝ inches to 3¾x3¾ inches; materials required.

Send ten cents (plus one cent to cover cost of mailing) for this pattern to The Mansfield News-Journal, Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly Pattern Number, your Name and Address.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"Then," I interrupted Gus ruthlessly, your men were right. Those men in the car that passed us are also hunting Professor Diswell's house, and it's fairly certain that they know who you are. We mustn't wait another minute to start again. Joe must have the directions by this time."

"We've got plenty of time," Gus said, surprisingly. "Please listen, Missis Graham. It seems this Jim, he knows the old prof, and he didn't think it would be so good to let those babies find him before he got over there first.

"So he told them, sure, he knew. He told them to go to Cornwall Bridge first, and then he directed them a roundabout way, and he didn't give them the last three miles to the old fellow's house at all

"They'll have to do a lot of inquiring, he says, and it will take them quite a spell to find it.

"As soon as he could get away he beat it back here to Warren, and he wanted to get a couple of men to go with him to the old prof's house. I didn't know—I thought maybe, you'd—"

His voice trailed into silence, and I made a quick decision. But first I put a question.

"How many know of this?" I asked.

"Only the storekeeper and his father," Gus replied promptly. "The storekeeper told me that, I guess, so I wouldn't worry. There's been nobody in the store since this man Jim Watson come in. The storekeeper, Mr. Branchman, told Watson he'd go with him."

"They are going over there anyway?" I asked.

"Yes, they are," he answered.

Find New Allies.

"Then ask them please to lead the way. But first, ask them when we get near the house, if there isn't some side road around, so that without losing too much time, we could come up to it from the opposite direction to the one which the gangsters will take. But ask them to hurry."

"Okay!" Gus was on his feet at the word, and making his way hurriedly to the front of the car. In a few seconds he and Joe came back, and I heard another car starting just before Joe sent ours into the road. I caught a glimpse of the two men in it, one a magnificently built giant, the other shorter and not so heavy, but looking as if he possessed powerful muscles. Then their car was speeding along the broad road into which we had come—one of the main Connecticut highways—at a pace which I think even Joe approved.

Gus came back to me, and I heard Joe speaking crisply to Bill.

"You keep an eye on those birds in front. I want to see where they turn. I'll see 'em all right, but it won't do no hurt for you to check 'em."

"I'll check," Bill replied laconically, and then we hurried down the highway at frightening speed.

It was less than five minutes by my wrist watch, upon which my eyes were glued, before I heard Bill's voice.

"They're putting out a hand and slowing up a bit. They must be going to turn at the next corner."

Joe immediately slackened the pace of the big car, and in a trice we were rounding a corner and traveling along a graveled road. After a quarter of a mile this became a rough, rutted wood road, which drew a groaning expletive from Joe.

Near Destination.

"I can't go faster along this," he said woefully, sending our car along at a brisk pace, nevertheless. "And that other car is slowing down. Well!"—with a patient decision to be philosophical—"from what that man at the store said, we're only two or three miles from the place. But they're going to go a mile and a half around, so as to come at it from the other side. So I guess there's only one thing to do, and that is to follow that other fellow and go as fast or as slow as he does."

Knowing that I was free from observation now, I raised myself on my elbow and saw that we were traveling on a steadily ascending road, so disused that the trees and underbrush seemed to wall the car in. If we should meet a car, one driver or the other would have to back until he found a place wide enough for passing.

With a realization of how this terrain would help us, I spoke softly to Gus:

"Won't it be possible to hide these cars in the underbrush when we get near the house?"

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, March 27

THIS SHOULD be an auspicious time for pushing ahead on the strategies and subtle programs established the day before. This time with the cooperation of those whose aid is vital to major objectives. The situation is particularly favorable should the desire be in connection with community, public or group activities or in relation to diplomatic, political, fraternal or corporate bodies. It should be a time for pushing to such goals but without overenthusiasm.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of outstanding success and progress, with promotion, preferment and substantial support coming from those in place and power, who are won by novelty, originality, exceptional cleverness and well-organized strategies rather than by force, audacity, quarrels or litigation. Extravagance in outlay and conduct are not recommended.

A child born on this day should be able, ambitious for place, power and prestige, in which it will be supported from high places.

"The Authority on Authorities"

A THRILL MULTIPLIED

Bidding a grand slam at any time gives you a thrill, even if you don't happen to make your contract afterward. Bidding and making one which is doubled and redoubled piles on the thrills. But, for sheer unadulterated excitement, can you imagine doing that after one of your opponents had opened the auction with a forcing two bid? That would be the limit of something or other, and yet just such things can occur in this game of contract, to grip you with its appeal and hold you tighter than ever.

	♠ J 10 8 4 2 ♥ A 5 ♦ 7 ♣ A 10 8 6 2
♠ 6 3 ♥ J 10 9 8 4 3 2 ♦ 5 2 ♣ 5 3	N. W. E. S.	♠ A K Q 9 7 5 ♥ K Q 7 ♦ K 9 6 3 ♣ None

East's bidding of this deal is easy enough to understand though plenty of players would not do it that way. South's is also understandable, after his partner called 3-No Trumps on his first chance to speak. Surely there must be enough strength of some kind in the North in view of that bid, to make 6-Clubs or 6-Diamonds a perfectly sound sporting proposition.

When this reached North—Mrs. Olive Sutton, one of New York's most assiduous duplicate enthusiasts—she reasoned that, if her partner could bid a small slam lacking the ace of one of the named suits, her own club ace surely must make the grand slam safe, especially since she had such a gorgeous fit for the clubs. Also because her great spade length made it a moral certainty South was void of that suit.

The opening spade lead was ruffed, club A used as an entry for the diamond Q finesse, the diamond 4 was ruffed, heart 5 ruffed, diamond 8 ruffed, clubs dropped and the hand was finished with set-up diamonds and trumps.

Tomorrow's Problem.

	♠ A K 7 5 2 ♥ A 9 2 ♦ K 7 4 ♣ K 3

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

After South bid 1-Spade and North 2-Diamonds, what should be the rest of the bidding on this deal?

FOUR DELEGATES

County To Be Represented at Medical Meeting.

Four Mansfield physicians are expected to attend the Ohio State Medical association's annual meeting in Columbus, at which Ohio's doctors will enter into a concentrated three-day study of advancing medical science and means of protecting health on the home front while the nation is at war.

The Columbus session, set for April 28, 29 and 30, will attract nearly 2,000 Ohio physicians. Nationally known medical authorities will deliver lectures, motion pictures of newest surgical and medical techniques will be shown, and panel discussions will be held on new diagnosis and treatment.

Richland county physicians expected to attend are Dr. John S. Hattery and Dr. Charles L. Shafer, official delegate and alternate; and Dr. Howard B. Peck and Dr. Charles G. Brown, officers of the county medical society.

MARK TOWN

WOODBURN, Ore. — (U.P.) — Daughters of the American Revolution have erected a marker on the Pacific highway at the old town of Belle Passi, a prominent stopping point as early as 1843.

Now displaced by Woodburn, Belle Passi included a store, a blacksmith shop, post office and a library at the time when it flourished on the pioneer trail.

Cautions College Girls To Beware War Marriages

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(INS)—College girls should stay in school and prepare themselves for reconstruction activities after the war instead of leaping into hasty "war marriages."

That advice was given today by Mrs. Carl I. Winsor of Wichita, Kan., national president of the Alpha Chi Omega sorority. She was recently in Albuquerque for the Pan-Hellenic conference of the University of New Mexico.

Mrs. Winsor told the co-eds good minds will be needed after the war and to prepare themselves now for the jobs ahead.

Another visitor, Miss Margaret Stephenson, dean of women at Oklahoma university, advised the co-eds to be more aware of the adult world about them, to learn to converse beyond the "he said, and I told him" of the usual college girl.

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — May heaven save Douglas MacArthur from his loving friends.

The Australian request for his services as the clock of doom registers the eleventh hour and the fifty-ninth minute tends to make him personally responsible for what the president says is "everything from here to Singapore." This is all messed up with some kind of British empire politics involving Mr. Curtin and Mr. Churchill.

Gen. Johnson.

On top of this some little American groups are forming under the slogan "MacArthur For President" which tend to push him, willy-nilly into American politics.

The tendency of all this is to entangle our feet more deeply in some kind of war mess involving, as it now begins to appear, conflicting and very complex wishes or aspirations of Britain, Australia, Canada and perhaps India.

Even as a loyal selfless ally we can't be altogether under British tutelage. We can't submerge the whole of our interests or accept responsibilities for matters which we do not and cannot control.

India and China both apparently feel entitled to independence if the war is won and if they help to win it. Indeed, if the "four freedoms" meant anything they must have meant something like that.

And yet if the war is won, will Britain be content to see such a subdivision of the empire? And if she be not content, are we at last to learn that we have been fighting and sacrificing to give the Malayans back to the Dutch, the East Indians to the English, and the Chinese to their semi-sovereignty under alien concessions?

MacArthur's "supreme command of everything east of Singapore" is a sort of symbol of some such position as that into which he is being dragged—and with him our own independence of action to both our east and our west.

What does supreme command mean if joint inter-Allied boards independent of MacArthur are to say what supplies and forces he is to be given with which to fight his battle?

The plaudits he has so justly won by doing so much with so little have left a sort of impression that he is a military magician who can do anything with nothing.

Of course, he is no such thing. He is among the tops of soldiers in all history, but even that is not enough. He is no miracle monger.

His job is to reconquer a quarter of the globe half a world away in distance. He can no more do that without a vast supply of men and materials than Napoleon could have done it from his prison island of St. Helena.

If he fails to do it (as he must fail without adequate supplies) his herocially-won fame will be frittered away.

If we do not see to it that he has adequate supplies, we shall be accused of not meeting the vast responsibilities into which we have somehow been euchered and now find ourselves, and, worst of all, will be seriously hampered and threatened on our Atlantic and European front.

The loving friends, admirers and even idolators of MacArthur's are thus doing him and the country no service by over-emphasizing his genius and paying too little heed to the dread considerations mentioned here.

Those who go further, at this crisis, to push him toward domestic politics, are doing him an even worse service.

They forget that MacArthur is neither a politician nor a Democrat—much less a New Dealer. Why can't we give at least one American soldier a clean break?

ALL SYNTHETIC RUBBER RIGHTS FREED BY COURT

Decree Releases Standard Oil Patents, Royalty Free, To Industry.

(By United Press)

NEWARK, N. J.—A bottleneck threatening measure to relieve the rubber shortage was broken today by a consent decree, releasing, royalty free, the Standard Oil company's synthetic rubber patents to all industry.

Not only synthetic rubber patents, but also patents on the manufacture of gasoline and important chemicals and the "knowledge and experience" needed to use them were opened under the pressure of government action against Standard Oil, six subsidiaries and I. G. Farbenindustrie, the giant German chemical trust, with which Standard was accused by the government of conniving.

The decree was filed with Federal Judge William F. Smith, but previously, Standard, the subsidiaries and three officers pleaded nolo contendere (refusal to contest) to a charge of violating federal anti-trust laws, and were fined $5,000 each.

I. G. Farbenindustrie was a co-conspirator, not a defendant. Its interests are in the hands of the alien property custodian.

Under the decree, scores of patents controlled by Standard and I. G. Farbenindustrie may be used by any American manufacturer without royalty until six months after the war ends. Afterwards, the defendants may charge a "reasonable royalty."

In general, Standard Oil was charged with agreeing with I. G. Farbenindustrie that Standard was to dominate world trade and commerce in the oil industry, except in Germany, and I. G. Farbenindustrie was allowed the same domination of the chemical industry.

The government said that since 1936 officials of I. G. Farbenindustrie also had served as officials of the Nazi government, "being charged with the responsibility of making Germany self-sufficient under the four-year plan in chemicals and oil products.

The demand for books on technical subjects by men starting upon new vocations has put titles on welding, machine shop practice and blue print reading in the best-seller class as far as the Mansfield Public library circulation is concerned. In fact there is as much of a demand for "The New Encyclopedia of Machine Shop Practice," as there is for some of the new titles in fiction, according to Miss Lois MacKellar, librarian, because most of the men asking for the book seem to feel that it contains "most of the answers."

One Mansfield motorist is not only careful about the equipment on his automobile but he is especially solicitious about his license tags. Applying for new tags yesterday at the Richland County Auto club, this driver noticed that the licenses being issued were in the 94 series. "Would you mind giving me another series number," he asked the clerk. "Of course not," she answered," but why?" "Well 9 and 4 add up to 13," he answered. "I'm not superstitious, just cautious."

The county's draft boards get a number of letters from people who think they know of young men who are escaping the army by deceiving the boards. Usually the unsigned letters are thrown into the wastebasket, but to satisfy his curiosity one of the clerks recently looked into one of the complaints. He found that the "healthy, former athlete" described in the letter had been examined by doctors and rejected because of poor eyesight and weak lungs. Boards glady accept information provided in good faith by persons who identify themselves, clerks said, but anonymous attempts to "get even" with a registrant or "settle an account" with him carry no weight with boards.

AGENTS PRESS ROUNDUP OF ENEMY ALIENS

Guns, Ammunition Also Found as Survey Reveals Nearly 3,000 Under Arrest.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — FBI agents confiscated a complete and detailed plan of the subway system of New York from a suspected spy, it was learned today as they pressed a relentless roundup of enemy aliens thought to be dangerous to the security of the United States.

The G-men have raided more than 10,000 business establishments and dwellings of enemy aliens since January, a survey revealed, and 2,921 Japanese, German and Italian nationals have been arrested.

Those apprehended, including the alien found in possession of the subway map, were ordered held for hearings before alien enemy hearing boards established by Attorney General Francis Biddle. They numbered 2,392 Japs, 321 Germans and 208 Italians.

Details of the raid which uncovered the subway plan could not be learned. However, the survey revealed that the aliens seized had collected every conceivable type of document which might be used in sabotage work, including many maps of U. S. coastal waters and the Panama canal.

FBI agents questioned thousands of aliens during the raids, but arrested only those believed dangerous to this nation. The raids also netted more than 2,100 guns, including revolvers, shotguns and rifles, and more than 170,000 rounds of ammunition.

This indicated that most of the aliens seized had hoarded guns and ammunition although they had been ordered to surrender them to police. In addition, more than 1,000 swords were confiscated and these did not include knives that might be used as weapons.

Approximately 1,364 sticks of dynamite and 1,756 other pieces of powerful explosives were found, most of it in coastal cities containing vital defense plants. Some of the seizures had been reported previously but the survey disclosed that the number of confiscations in recent days has increased, showing that many aliens were deliberately hiding the dynamite from U. S. authorities.

Many army handbooks also were found, one revealing how American troops maintain guards in the interior of arsenals and war factories. One enemy alien, it was disclosed, had a portfolio containing war department instructions issued to officers and enlisted men.

Photographs of harbors, bridges, oil storage tanks, dams, dirigibles, battleships, coast fortifications and naval drydocks also were taken by FBI men.

According to the survey, enemy aliens were particularly active around Fort Benning, Ga. A fire control map of the fort and numerous photographs of buildings and installations there were found in the possession of aliens. Many of them were of technical nature, of little interest to any civilian.

TENURE LAW REPEAL SEEN

State Director of Education Predicts Conflict Over Teacher Legislation.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS—State Education Director Kenneth C. Ray said today that administration of the Ohio Teacher Tenure act probably would cause "so much conflict" that he "wouldn't be in the least surprised" to see the law repealed at the next session of the legislature in January, 1943.

"The protests that will arise from the hundreds of problems encountered in administering the law necessarily will cause some pressure to be brought on state legislators," Ray said. "You remember the difficulty there was in passing the law."

The state supreme court upheld the validity of the act yesterday when it ordered four boards of education to grant continuing contracts to teachers who charged they had compiled with the law but had not been offered new teaching contracts.

"The supreme court merely settled three or four outstanding problems arising from the act," Ray said.

"Take the case of the school superintendent," Ray said. "He suffers most under the law because although his school is required to retain him it is not required to retain him as a superintendent. It can demote him to the least desirable job."

He said that one principal problem the supreme court did not touch on was the question of what is to be done in the case of the teacher who came within the jurisdiction of the law and who was replaced by another teacher also coming under the act.

MANHATTAN 'SPITS IN EYE OF SIXTH COLUMN' WITH BLACKOUT

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK — "The lower East Side of Manhattan today spit squarely in the face of the sixth columnists."

This was the way Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia described the twenty minute blackout which plunged lower Manhattan into total darkness last night.

"The obstructionists, the appeasers, those unfriendly to the successful prosecution of the war, had anticipated and wished this drill to be a complete flop," he said. "Instead it was a 100 per cent success."

The darkness, which covered slightly more than five square miles from the Battery to Fourteenth street, was staged with a cast of 250,000 inhabitants, sightseers and workers.

It cast its shadow over the skyscrapers in the financial district, the tenement houses of lower Manhattan, the famed artist studios of Greenwich Village, historic Washington Square and lower Fifth Avenue.

Everyone in the darkened area, regardless of race and color, religion or creed, participated in the dress rehearsal of what may come if Adolf Hitler hurls his bombers at the nation's largest city.

More than 9,000 air raid wardens patrolled the darkened streets. They were entrusted with the dousing of 5,400 street lamps and 2,100 control boxes.

NEW COURSE

Class on Chemical Warfare To Open Friday Night.

Richland county's first aid instructors and air raid wardens will launch upon a new course of training Friday night when they begin a 10-hour class that will instruct them to combat chemical warfare.

Sponsored by McVey post of the American Legion the class will be held at the Legion home each Friday from 7:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. Approximately 150 persons are expected to take the course including first aid instructors from some of the surrounding towns outside the county.

Bernard C. Hardy, first aid director of the county Red Cross, will instruct the class. Hardy wrote his own text book for the course, basing it on principles that he used when teaching a similar course while stationed with the medical battation in Quantico, Va.

The course will acquaint the class with the principal chemical agents and deal with protection against attack, tactical protection, first aid for gas casualties, decontamination, and the organization and duties of the personnel.

SUES WILLARD

Mother Asks $10,000 in Death of Infant at Hospital.

NORWALK—Mrs. Doris Otterbacher of Willard, has asked the Huron county court of common pleas to award her $10,000 damages for the death of her infant son, David Arthur, who died in Willard municipal hospital in May 1941.

In a petition filed here yesterday, Mrs. Otterbach charges that the child, born in the hospital, contracted typhoid fever as the result of food contamination caused by a human carrier.

The petition charges that the hospital management permitted the maternity ward to become infected with tyhpoid germs.

Named defendants are the village of Willard, which operates the hospital; Gertrude Baker, superintendent of the institution, and C. H. Strahm, C. C. Heffelfinger, E. H. Brown, Mrs. Eva Lewis, and Anna Purcell, whom she says are connected with the hospital.

PAIR HUNTED IN OHIO SLAYING

Banker Dies Following Gunfight In Front of Home.

POWHATAN—(AP)—Two holdup men, one believed to be wounded, were sought by Belmont county authorities today after a gun battle which ended in the death of Alex C. Van Dyne, 57, director of the Powhatan National bank and a member of the school board.

Van Dyne was ambushed in front of his home last night while carrying the day's receipts of his filling station. Emptying his pistol at the marauders, he frustrated the robbery but was felled by a .45 caliber bullet.

The men fled in an automobile and the banker died a short time later.

INDICTED IN DEATHS

PORTSMOUTH — (AP) — The Scioto county grand jury indicted Wilford H. Pilch on charges of automobile manslaughter, reckless operation and failing to stop after an accident. The charges were filed after three persons were killed by an auto as they walked on a sidewalk in nearby Wheelersburg, Feb. 22.

Hearing Set for Ohio Fuel Gas on Gas Adulteration

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— The Ohio Fuel Gas company charged with "surreptitiously diluting' its natural gas and with selling the mixture to thousands of Ohioans as natural gas, again was ordered by the state public utilities commission today to show cause why it should not be forced to cease selling adulterated gas.

The commission, after citing specific instances in which the Ohio Fuel Gas company has sold diluted gas, fixed April 10 as the date for hearing the answer of the Ohio Fuel Gas and six other subsidiaries of the Columbia Gas and Electric company against which similar charges have been filed.

The commission, quoting the 1939 and 1940 annual reports of the Ohio Fuel Gas company, said the company admitted using "unstabilized gas" to "blend" natural gas at its Treat and Crawford plants.

The commission charged also that Ohio Fuel Gas in 1940 sold at the natural gas rate approximately 429,132,000 cubic feet of the diluted gas to the Northwestern Ohio Natural Gas company and 7,486,413,000 cubic feet to the Dayton Power and Light company.

You weren't just kiddin', kid," ribbed Thornton Moore, "when you squibbed the other day that half of our Woodland tennis players were in the army.

"Right now we can only be fairly sure of about six players for this season, and we may or may not have three more. But we can't count on more than nine at the most.

"Instead of a tournament this year, we may have to decide our championship on a round-robin schedule of matches."

Yes, and that same shortage of tennis players in the men's division may mean that there'll be no city tournament this year.

Some arrangement should be made, however, to continue, and promote into higher importance, the women's and junior net tourneys, and particular emphasis should be placed on the junior jousts.

If no tennis players are developed today, there'll be none tomorrow.

* * *

I pat the ball in a dainty lob,
And sing my weekly song of sob.

Perhaps the gals will take over the tennis courts this summer, even as they've been taking over the golf courses and bowling alleys in the past year.

Oh, yes, there are still a lot of male golfers and bowlers around and about in the community, but that's because there were so darn many of them to begin with. And the ones that are left are more than a bit on the mature side.

It took no extraordinarily discerning optic last summer to note that the fairways, yes, and the rough, were crowded with dolls in the daytime, with the twilight hours left for the hard-working men to pursue the pernicious pellet. And the gals who took up the game last year will keep the golf courses going this season.

And bowling! Where there was one 8-team league of women keglers struggling along a year ago in Mansfield, there are now, gosh, how many? The 8-team league has grown to a 10. And in addition there's the Tuesday matinee league, the Westinghouse, Dominion and Tappan leagues, and the high school girls league. And one half of a mixed doubles league.

The golf courses and bowling alleys will operate until the men get back. The gals will see to that. Perhaps they'll also see to the tennis courts.

Now, as quoth the governor of Idyho,

It's time for me to skeedaddle, I mean go.

RECONSIDERED

TAMPA, Fla.—(AP)—Ray Lamanno, who has a fair chance of being the Cincinnatti Red Bird's second string catcher after a good showing last year at Birmingham, has been notified by his California draft board that his present classification, 1-B, because of an old injury is being reconsidered.

Wooster Bowler Hits 735

Score's Second Highest In ABC 5-Man History.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—A pair of former bowling champions and record holders, Frank Benkovic and Larry Shotwell of Cincinnati, will try for a slice of the $250,000 prize fund in the 42nd annual American Bowling Congress tournament in Columbus tonight.

Benkovic and the late Gil Zunker won the doubles championship in 1933 at Columbus with 1415, the highest total ever recorded in an ABC tournament. Shotwell banged out 774 in Cleveland in 1930 in the singles, also top score for a Congress classic.

The Bowling Association of Bakersfield, Cal., hit 3001 to take third place in the five-man division as two other changes were registered on the high ten scoring board.

Acme Billiards of Los Angeles posted 2936 for sixth and the Altmans five of Atlantic City, N. J., cracked out 2900 for ninth, only to drop to eleventh after the West Coast teams had bowled.

But Glenn Shinn, a 41-year-old Gas company foreman of Wooster, stole the spotlight from the California teams at the Coliseum.

Bowling with the Fort Pitt Beers team of which he is captain, Shinn nailed a 725 series, the second highest ever rolled in a five-man event at the ABC tournaments. The top mark is held by Fred Weber, Milwaukee, who hit 768 in the Peoria tournament in 1934.

Starting with a 181 game, Shinn caught the fancy of the crowd assembled to see the West Coast keglers when he came through with a 267 in his second game and climaxed his series with a brilliant 287 game, the second highest game score rolled in the tourney to date.

In his final game, Shinn picked up an eight-point count and a spare in the opener and then blasted the pins for 10 consecutive strikes. Headed for a potential 290 and the highest score shot in the tournament, Shinn missed the headpin, and settled for a seven-pin count to net a 287 score.

Shinn may cash in on the all-events money today if he hits the same stride when he bowls in the doubles and singles. Shinn is paired with Scott Gisinger of Wooster in the doubles event.

Kiraly Hits High In Art Rattan

Kiraly led the Art Rattan bowling league at Colony alleys last night with a 532 total on games of 158-192-182. His 192 was high game for the league.

ROOKIE HAS HIS FUN IN MAJOR TRYOUT

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif.—(AP)—Ralph Kiner, 20-year-old pitching rookie with the Pittsburgh Pirates, is a major league humorist even if he is slated to go back to the minors next month.

Ordered by Frankie Frisch to run around the field, the youngster looked at his frayed shoes and asked: "What am I going to do for a pair of shoes when I join Albany if I run myself barefooted here?

Torrid Battles Predicted In Legion Benefit Boxing Show

Mansfield fight fans can count on two torrid battles in the pair of five-round bouts topping the benefit amateur boxing show to be staged by the 40 & 8 of the American Legion April 2, Friendly House Matchmaker Mike Wentz declared today.

* * *

The main bout will send Herb Chambers of Friendly House against Eddie Williams of Columbus in a slugfest at 168 pounds, and the semi-final 5-heater pits Dick McConnell of Friendly House against Charles Gwynne of Columbus at 142 pounds.

Williams is still fighting in the American Legion tournament in Columbus and is favored to cop the crown at his weight. He has proven a good puncher and a good in-fighter and should give Chambers a real test.

Friendly House Trainer John Eichinger declares Herb is ready for Williams, and they he'll be able to take care of himself when they square away in the armory ring. Chambers was edged on a close decision in the Cleveland Golden Gloves this spring by the boy who went on to win the championship.

Dick McConnell is a recent addition to the Friendly House stable, coming from Toledo where he won the welterweight championship last year. He went to the Cleveland Golden Gloves quarter-finals this spring, and has had around 20 fights.

His opponent, Gwynne, is in the finals of the Columbus American Legion tournament which he won a year ago when he went on the national A. A. U. tourney at Boston. He also has had about 20 fights.

* * *

Tickets for the fight show, which also lists eight 3-round bouts may be obtained at the Fox jewelry store. Proceeds will go to the child welfare fund of the American Legion's 40 & 8.

Softball Board Plans Season

Possibility of modifying rules of Mansfield softball leagues to keep their rosters complete by addition of players to take the places of those called to the army were discussed at the first meeting of the city softball commission.

Tentative plans were made for organization of an Industrial league to be limited to factory employes, and also for Church and Independent leagues open to all players, with no player classification planned.

Another meeting of the commission will be held at the Y. M. C. A. building next Tuesday night when a new president will be elected to succeed Joe Lesch, who has made application for enlistment in the army air corps.

Tourney Officiating Draws Coaches' Ire

Too Technical Whistle Blowing Also Raises Fan Indignation

By JAMES EMERSON

COLUMBUS—(UP)—Don't be surprised if a few firm "priority" restrictions are slapped on whistle blowing at the Ohio Class A schoolboy basketball finals Saturday.

The blood pressure of the public, the newspapers, the coaches and, most important, the brass hats who run these tournaments has been rising slowly to a boil of indignation the past few seasons over seemingly too-close and often downright inefficient officiating at these colorful meets so important in the high school sports scheme.

A few years back these same coaches and tourney bosses encouraged the referees to call 'em close for fear proceedings on the hardwood court might get out of hand during heated battles where each contestant knows it's one defeat and out they go.

But now the pendulum of public and official opinion appears to be swinging in the other direction with a demand to "give the game back to the players."

The demoralizing manner in which too-technical officiating can practically ruin a game was demonstrated last week at Springfield when 66 fouls—better than one a minute—were assessed against the four teams in the vital Class B semi-final clashes. The referees were calling alleged infractions so close and so often that the players themselves appeared bewildered over what they could or could not do.

One high authority in the tournament picture who heretofore always defended tourney officiating as no better or worse than it used to be admitted this week the whistle blowing at Springfield left something to be desired.

Neither he nor any other critic accuses the referees of partiality but they do think a game can be held in check as to roughness without a foul being called every minute.

* * *

Reports from Akron and Cambridge indicate that Lu Hosfield and Dave Corby, respective coaches of Akron North and Cambridge, were disgusted over the too-technical conduct of the regional final game between their two clubs at Dennison.

* * *

All of this indignation is likely to put James Morgan of New Philadelphia and John Russ of Youngstown in a tight spot when they "call 'em as they see 'em" at Kent Saturday. They may work the best games of the season but nevertheless the crowd and the coaches will be strictly critical.

There is a good possibility that the powers-behind-the-tourney-throne will have words of advice for the officials before the opening tipoff.

Seeded Last But Win Title

West Virginia Quintet Takes Garden Tourney.

NEW YORK—(AP)—West Virginia, the team that was seeded last in the National Invitational basketball tournament, today owned the championship, the most-valuable-player award and three places on the tourney's all-star squad.

The Mountaineers staged a sparkling second-half rally last night to down Western Kentucky State, 47-45, in the final game after having eliminated such stalwarts as defending champion Long Island university and high-scoring Toledo university.

Western Kentucky, seeded only a notch above West Virginia in the starting field of eight, upset City College of New York and Creighton university to gain the finals.

Creighton wound up with third prize in the annual meet by dumping Toledo, 48-46, in the opener of last night's doubleheader at Madison Square Garden.

West Virginia dropped three free throws through the hoop in the last 45 seconds of play to cap a thrilling rally that Western Kentucky almost matched.

Six New Records MarkedUp

MacMitchell Beats Gil Dodds By Six Yards.

By HAROLD CLAASEN

NEW YORK—(AP)—A hall manager's pique helped create six world indoor track records last night and a pair of head colds kept Leslie MacMitchell and Greg Rice from erasing marks in the mile and two-mile runs, respectively.

Tex O'Rourke, manager of the Coliseum, offered free use of his hall for a track meet after a coach, in an unguarded statement at the metropolitan college games in January, said that the Bronx nine-lap, oil-spattered boards weren't as "fast" as the 11-lap track in Madison Square Garden. More than 5,000 spectators came out to see the "debate."

Roy Cochran, formerly of Indiana university; John Borican of Asbury Park, N. J., the Seton Hall college relay team and the Georgetown university one-mile foursome gave plenty of proof that O'Rourke's ire was justified.

* * *

Cochran, now representing the Great Lakes naval training station, opened the six-event program staged for the benefit of the Navy Relief society by tearing through 440 yards in :48.2 to shave one and four-tenths seconds from the mark Thomas Halpin of Boston set in 1913.

En route, Cochran was clocked at the 400 meter post in :47.9 to rub out Halpin's mark of :49.6 there.

Borican also ran only one race but smashed two marks. He eliminated Lloyd Hahn's mark of 1:51.4 for the half-mile with a 1:50.5 recording. He sailed by the 800-meter pole in 1:50 to erase Hahn's 1928 effort of 1:51.4.

Seton Hall college, putting on display one freshman and three upperclassmen, ran the fastest two-mile relay race on record. The Jersey four snapped the twine in 7:33.9 to wipe out their own mark of 7:39.8 and exceeded the outdoor record of 7:34.5 set by a University of California team last summer.

Georgetown got so far out in front in the one-mile relay that its runners weren't troubled by the jostling and shoving of the three rivals and carried the baton across the finish in 3:17.2, clipping six-tenths of a second from the University of Pennsylvania's 11-year-old record.

* * *

MacMitchell defeated Gil Dobbs by six yards in a 4:07.8 mile although he ran with his head so stopped with a cold he suffered a half-hour nose-bleed after the race.

Hogan Favored For Golf Title

Eight Remain In Race For North-South Crown.

By FRITZ LITTLEJOHN

PINEHURST, N. C.—(AP)—Eight men were in the running as the 10th annual North and South open golf championship swung into the 36-hole finals today, but the money was on golfdom's big four—Battling Ben Hogan, Defending Champion Sammy Snead, Open Champion Craig Wood and Byron Nelson, former open and P. G. A. king.

* * *

Les Kennedy, 24-year-old son of a Lynn, Mass., policeman, Portsmouth, Va., veteran at 28, had the most startling rounds so far. Each had shot a 66. Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, L. I., had a 67 and Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago had two steady 69's. But their efforts left them underdogs to the foursome who won everything in sight in last year's play.

* * *

Hogan, seeking top money honors for the third straight year, was deadlocked with Harper for the lead at 135, nine shots under par.

Here's the way the others shaped up behind them:

Kennedy 66-70--136; Wood 69-67--138; Snead 67-71--138; Mangrum 69-69--138; Hines 71-67--138; Nelson 69-70--139.

Consistency, some critics saw Wood Despite Hogan's record for consistency, some critics saw Wood and Nelson as having the best chances to come from behind in today's wide-open scramble.

* * *

Nelson played all but perfect golf along the fairways yesterday, hitting every green but one. He had an amazing 35 putts and still came up with a two-under par 70. Given a few breaks on the greens, that kind of golf will return him to the championship he won here in 1939.

Simon Gets In Shape for K. O.

Ample Abe Predicts He'll Stay on Feet.

By LAWTON CARVER

SUMMIT, N. J.—(INS)—The ordeal of getting into shape to be knocked out of shape by Joe Louis is over for Abe Simon. The mammoth New York heavyweight is ready to march that last mile for the second time, that last mile from the dressing room to the ring where on Friday night he will challenge for the heavyweight championship at Madison Square Garden.

Simon threatens not to have any alibis this time. He predicts he will be on his feet at the finish—whether he knocks Louis out or goes the distance to a decision.

Nobody shares in the Simon camp optimism, beyond a firm conviction that he positively will show up for the fight. He did once before when he was stopped in 13, and will again to be stopped much sooner perhaps. The customers will turn out—as they should—because this is for a worthy cause. The army emergency fund gets nearly everything, including all of Louis' purse and all of Promoter Mike Jacobs' profits.

But the professional oddsmakers won't lay you a price against the champion. They will lay you 7 to 1 against Simon and 3 to 1 against his being in there at the finish.

All of which just about sizes up Louis' opponent for the champion's 21st defense of the title. A Simon victory might transpire to confound everybody, and if it does the trouble will be traceable to these facts or presumptions (1) Louis will miss Trainer Jack Blackburn, who is ill and unavailable; (2) Louis hasn't been able to get his rest while training at Fort Dix; (3) Louis is too preoccupied with his duties as a soldier to get his mind on the battle; (4) Louis has slipped.

Perhaps none of the points are important.

As for Simon, he has trained down fine and looked as capable as he ever has in his final workout here yesterday. He will be several pounds lighter this time that he was in his previous bout with Louis, and he says flatly that both hands are in perfect shape.

* * *

He says, too, that he won't have any alibis, such as that one about a broken right hand in their previous match.

Harmon Inducted As Aviation Cadet

DETROIT—(INS)—Tom Harmon, who bumped his way into football's hall of fame as an All-American halfback for the University of Michigan, was to be sworn in today as an aviation cadet.

Harmon made this announcement simultaneously with the news that George Ceithaml, quarterback and captain-elect of the 1942 Michigan team, was sworn in as an ensign in the navy. Ceithaml will be permitted to complete his studies.

Lou Nova Has New System

Declares It's Much Better Than Yoga.

By JACK GUENTHER

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The oldest system of self discipline known to man lost its most famous apostle today. Standing on his feet instead of his head and munching a fist full of meat balls instead of gulping air, Sahib Lou Nova ended some five months of breathless suspense with the announcement that he has given Yoga back to the Hindus.

The big California heavyweight has shaved off his beard, cancelled the hour he devoted daily to contemplation of ageless mysteries and abandoned hope of some day winning the world title through activities purely mental. Last, but hardly least, he has said goodbye forever to the most delightful of all boxing inventions—the cosmic punch.

Nova reached his decision at a racetrack.

"My belief in the value of Yoga was somewhat weakened the night Joe Louis hit me on the chin, but I decided that it was only fair to give the mysteries one more chance," he explained as he moved from the meat balls to a platter of sausages. "After all, the trouble in that fight could have been with me instead of with the Hindu teachings.

"So I took the good book and went out to Hialeah park down in Florida. I bought a program, took out my wallet and concentrated. I ate a couple of quarts of air and before each race I'd sneak into the men's room and stand on my head for a few minutes. But it was no good. Either I haven't what it takes or Yoga hasn't. I never saw the cashier's window."

But hold on men, he has found something else.

It is "Lou Novaism."

"Lou Novaism," he expounded, "isn't quite as profound as Yoga. It consists of only four things — hard training, hard punching, winning the heavyweight title and then retiring to Hollywood and making several motion pictures that will clean up several million dollars.

Really it is quite simple."

XAVIER GRIDDERS MAY MEET SOLDIERS

CINCINNATI —(INS)— Xavier university's football team may engage an army post team from Fort Knox on October 31 at Cincinnati.

Clem Crowe, Xavier athletic director, announced today that he received an invitation from the soldiers but declared that arrangements for the scheduling the Fort Knox gridders will be decided within the next few days.

Barons Battle for Added Ice Money

HERSHEY, Pa. — (INS) — The Cleveland Barons will go into the third and deciding game of the American league hockey semi-finals at the Arena tonight with a $2,600 incentive added to their desire to win. The money represents the difference between the reward of the team losing in the semi-finals and the one that is beaten in the finals.

PLANNING A TRIP TO CANADA? WELL, DON'T WORRY ABOUT GAS

If you're planning a vacation trip to Canada this spring or summer you might make a note in your little black book that you won't have to worry about gasoline. Although gasoline rationing in Canada will go into effect on April 1, it looks as if there'll be plenty of motor fuel for American tourists.

According to bulletins received by Jack Berger, deputy registrar of the Richland County Auto club, the following regulations have been set up by the oil controller for Canada:

U. S. tourists remaining in Canada up to 48 hours, will receive when they cross the border, coupons good for 20 Imperial gallons of gas, which is equivalent to 24 American gallons. (The Imperial, or British gallon, by which liquids are measured in Canada, is approximately 20 per cent larger than the U. S. gallon.)

Tourists remaining more than 48 hours and up to 90 days will receive coupons enabling them to purchase the following amounts of gasoline: Over the three months period, April, May (and June, 80 gallons (Imperial); during July, August, and September, 95 gallons (Imperial); over the months of October, November and December, 75 gallons (Imperial); and over the three months period, January, February, and March, 1943, 50 gallons (Imperial); a total of 300 Imperial gallons for the year.

The above system has been worked out in order to allow the greatest amount of driving to be done during the peak travel months, July, August and September. The 95 gallons allotted for these months should allow from 1,100 to 1,500 miles of driving, at least.

The whole thing adds up to this: if you have the time, the money, and the tires, to motor to Canada, don't stay awake nights worrying about the gasoline rationing there. You can still breathe in the old world atmosphere of ancient Quebec, you can still enjoy the scenic beauty of Canada's national parks, and; if you're one of these fishermen who have cast a line in Canadian lakes year after year, you can still have another crack at that "musky" you missed last season.

"Lun sim kit chin" means blitzkrieg in Chinese (Cantonese).

CAVIAR SOURCE AIDED BY DAM

White Sturgeon Discovered In Bonneville Lake In Oregon.

(By United Press)

ASTORIA, Ore.—Lake Bonneville, formed by the backwaters above Bonneville dam, may become a huge "caviar bowl," in the judgment of veteran fishermen.

White sturgeon, the source of domestic caviar, were facing extinction in the Columbia river as a result of unrestricted fishing, but now they have been discovered in large numbers in Lake Bonneville. With proper sanctuary there is no apparent reason why they should not thrive again here.

Before the beginning of the 20th century white sturgeon were virtually destroyed in the Columbia by intensive fishing that produced a catch of 5,000,000 pounds yearly.

The killing off of thousands of undersized sturgeon caught in gill nets, seines, traps and wheels by commercial fishermen, despite the fact that the taking of small sturgeon has been prohibited for several years, has diminished the 1941 catch to le than 40,000 pounds.

While little is known of the habits of the white sturgeon, which is slow but extremely hardy, it has been ascertained that it does not suffer from pollution, unscreened irrigation ditches, or the shutting off of propagation areas, which have claimed a staggering toll of Columbia river spring Chinook salmon and Bluebacks.

It is said by fishermen that the fish thrive in landlocked waters, consequently a movement has been made to transplant them to inland Oregon lakes. Since the fish apparently endure high water temperatures as well or better than salmon, Grand Coulee lake, Wash., has been established as a future possibility.

Prohibition of commercial fishing for 15 miles above Bonneville dam is giving the fish a safe nursery. Another aid to the fish is the growth of soft mud on the bottom of the river, which hampers gill net fishing.

DROPS AGAIN

Sales Tax Receipts in County Cut From $11,658 to $9,198.

State sales tax receipts in Richland county for the week ending March 14 continued to show a downward trend from the corresponding week last year, dropping from $11,658 to $9,198.

The decline was general throughout Ohio, virtually every county reporting a drop in receipts for the second week of this month. The ban on new car sales and tire rationing accounted for most of the slump. Sales of food supplies and clothing continued to gain over last year, partly offsetting the loss of tax money in the automotive field.

Richland county receipts for the first 10 weeks of this year were more than $11,000 below the total for the corresponding weeks of 1941. The county's 1942 collections now total $101,528 as against $112,978 last year.

PAY AT DIFFERENT WINDOW BUT TRAFFIC FINES WILL BE SAME

It'll be at different windows but motorists will still pay the same amount for traffic fines at the municipal building.

Workers were busy today chiseling through the heavy wall of the lower corridor in the municipal building making a new window for the payment and collection of motor traffic fines.

The new window will be just inside the Walnut street entrance to the police department and will open into the new record room being set up next to Police Chief T. M. Bell's office.

Chief Bell said that the police record clerk's office will be moved to an office now occupied by the captains and plainclothesmen.

The captains and plainclothesmen will move over to the office being vacated by Miss McIntyre.

Bell said that the move was in line with the program for the defense of the police radio and communications system. At present, wire screening has been placed on the windows and doors of the radio room but because motorists and other persons can walk into the record room, they could reach the radio room in an instant.

Under the new set-up, strangers will be kept out of the radio room or any of the rooms connecting with it. In this way, according to Chief Bell, more protection will be given the communications system.

Financial Report of Richland County

For the Year Ending December 31, 1941.

CERTIFICATE OF THE COUNTY AUDITOR

Auditor's Office, Richland County,
Mansfield, Ohio, March 10, 1942.

I, Norman L. Wolfe, Auditor of Richland County, Ohio, do hereby certify that the following report is correct.

NORMAN L. WOLFE,
Richland County Auditor.

Court of Common Pleas, Richland County,
Mansfield, Ohio, March 10, 1942.

I certify that the following report is in compliance with the law.

C. H. HUSTON,
Judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

EXPLANATION OF FINANCIAL REPORT

GENERAL STATISTICS OF RICHLAND COUNTY, OHIO

Population, 1940—73,740.
Tax value, 1941 duplicate—$98,000,000.00.
Tax levy for County purposes—2.5 mills.
Bonded debt—general purposes—None.

The following remarks and data are submitted for the better understanding of the annual financial report for the year ending December 31, 1941.

COUNTY GENERAL FUND

In addition to the expense of operating the Court House and Jail many welfare activities are financed from the County General Fund. These include the Children's Home, County Infirmary, Soldier's Relief and Burial, care of indigent tubercular cases and indigent crippled children, as well as the maintenance of several hundred persons in various State Institutions for the feeble minded and insane.

Blind relief and aid to dependent children are financed partly from the County General Fund and partly from grants from the State and Federal Governments as shown on this report.

Agricultural extension work, and County and State elections are also financed from the General Fund.

During the year 1941, Richland County operated on the extremely low rate of 2.5 mills per dollar of tax value.

COUNTY DEBT

During the past ten years Richland County's debt has been steadily reduced from more than a million dollars and has now been entirely paid off.

For the past several years a policy of issuing no bonds without a vote of the people has been followed. If this policy is continued the county should be able to operate during the next few years on its present income and without any inrease in tax revenue.

COUNTY ROAD FUNDS

All income for road purposes is now derived from the auto license tax and gas tax and the detail of the expenditures from this fund is easily followed in the report.

New construction of roads and bridges, maintenance and repair of all County highways, weed mowing, snow removal and supervision of the County highway system are paid for out of this fund.

TAX FUNDS

The County acts as a tax assessing, collecting, and distributing agency for the other units of local government: namely, the schools, cities, villages, and townships. Richland County acts in this capacity for thirteen school districts, two cities, seven villages, and eighteen townships. These funds make up the item shown as "Undistributed Tax Funds."

In 1941 the County handled $3,112,697.66 for the various units of local government.

The other items contained in this report are, I believe, self explanatory.

NORMAN L. WOLFE,
Richland County Auditor.

2—Card of Thanks

WITH REGARD TO A CARD OF THANKS

Very often a Card of Thanks in The News-Journal meets a need which can hardly be solved in any other way. Not only is it a gracious expression of gratitude to those who have sent floral tributes, but also courteously acknowledges the service and kindness of the many to whom a personal note of thanks cannot well be mailed, or whose names or addresses are not known.

A "Card of Thanks" can now be arranged by telephone: Dial 4231-6, ask for Miss Lane or Miss Stone, either will be glad to render whatever service and advice you need.

UDGE PU-FLE— By Gene Ahern

I HAD THEM SET TO START DIGGING A VICTORY GARDEN IN THE YARD, AND I THOUGHT TO HOP 'EM UP. I'D MAKE 'EM TAKE SIX OF MY VITAMIN PEP PILLS A DAY!... BUT, LOOK AT 'EM.... JUST FINISHED THEIR SOUP, AND THEY FALL ASLEEP!
IF IT WAS THE END OF DINNER, THEY'D BE PERFECTLY NORMAL IN THAT TABLEAU. BUT NOT STARTING A MEAL!... NO SIR, NOT THOSE PACKERS!
MAYBE YOUR PEP PILLS DON'T BLEND WITH THEIR TALLOW!

HAS SOLUTION

BOSTON — (U.P.) — When Miss Phyllis Cheyne joined the Appalachian Mountain club last June, she wondered how she was going to keep in trim as an alpinist, but now this 20-year-old Boston stenographer reports that her problem is solved.

Scorning elevators, she makes it a practice to climb the 20 flights of stairs to her office in the United Shoe Machinery building each morning, walks down and back at night.

"It's fun," says she.

The U. S. normally requires between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 ounces of quinine a year.
